Art Unit: 3632

This is the first Office Action for application serial number 10/607,938, Universal Mobile Electron Device Holder and Carrying Case filed June 27, 2003.

Drawings

The drawings are objected to as failing to comply with 37 CFR 1.84(p)(4) because reference characters "142" and "152" have both been used to designate conical knobs. See page 10 of the specification line 25+. Corrected drawing sheets in compliance with 37 CFR 1.121(d) are required in reply to the Office action to avoid abandonment of the application. Any amended replacement drawing sheet should include all of the figures appearing on the immediate prior version of the sheet, even if only one figure is being amended. The replacement sheet(s) should be labeled "Replacement Sheet" in the page header (as per 37 CFR 1.84(c)) so as not to obstruct any portion of the drawing figures. If the changes are not accepted by the examiner, the applicant will be notified and informed of any required corrective action in the next Office action. The objection to the drawings will not be held in abeyance.

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 102

The following is a quotation of the appropriate paragraphs of 35 U.S.C. 102 that form the basis for the rejections under this section made in this Office action:

A person shall be entitled to a patent unless –

(e) the invention was described in (1) an application for patent, published under section 122(b), by another filed in the United States before the invention by the applicant for patent or (2) a patent granted on an application for patent by another filed in the United States before the invention by the applicant for patent, except that an international application filed under the treaty defined in section 351(a) shall have the effects for purposes of this subsection of an application filed in the United States only if the international application designated the United States and was published under Article 21(2) of such treaty in the English language.

Art Unit: 3632

Claims 1-3, 5-11, and 13-15 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 102(e) as being anticipated by Garvin teaches a combination of the carrying and holding apparatus. The apparatus comprises an open pocket (near 110) formed of a resiliently pliable material and has an exterior attachment interface (100). An interior surface of the pocket has one or more inwardly projecting resiliently pliable members (130). Opposite the opening pocket is a closure. The pliable members are solid ribs projecting inwardly of the pocket from one or more interior wall surfaces. A lip structure (located between 120 and 130) is included part of the opening. The exterior attachment structure comprises a pair of spaced apart apertures or bosses (162, 152).

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 103

The following is a quotation of 35 U.S.C. 103(a) which forms the basis for all obviousness rejections set forth in this Office action:

(a) A patent may not be obtained though the invention is not identically disclosed or described as set forth in section 102 of this title, if the differences between the subject matter sought to be patented and the prior art are such that the subject matter as a whole would have been obvious at the time the invention was made to a person having ordinary skill in the art to which said subject matter pertains. Patentability shall not be negated by the manner in which the invention was made.

Claim 4 is rejected under 35 U.S.C. 103(a) as being unpatentable over Garvin in view of Kirby 4,878,642. Garvin teaches the limitations of the base claim, excluding one or more apertures communicating between an interior and exterior surface of the closure.

Kirby teaches apertures in the bottom of the apparatus. It would have been obvious to one having ordinary skill in the art at the time the invention was made to have modified the closure of Garvin to have incorporated the apertures of Kirby for the purpose of draining.

Art Unit: 3632

Claims 12 and 17 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 103(a) as being unpatentable over Garvin. Garvin teaches the limitations of the base claim, excluding the rectangular tube shape. It would have been an obvious matter of design choice to have made the body rectangular shaped, since such a modification would have involved a mere change in the shape of a component. A change in shape is generally recognized as being within the level of ordinary skill in the art.

Allowable Subject Matter

Claims 16 and 18-20 are objected to as being dependent upon a rejected base claim, but would be allowable if rewritten in independent form including all of the limitations of the base claim and any intervening claims.

Conclusion

The prior art made of record and not relied upon is considered pertinent to applicant's disclosure. Omori 5,687,874, Williamson 5,588,055, Wang 5,860,559, and DeFrancesco 6,039,206 teach cupholder having a resilient mean in the interior thereof.
